Board of Regents' Policy 04.02.012 (B) states:

The University of Alaska seeks to hire, train, and promote individuals based on qualifications and demonstrated ability to perform the job. The University is committed to recruit and retain women and minorities in positions where they have been traditionally under represented. The concept of affirmative action requires that practices that adversely impact protected classes should be eliminated unless the university can demonstrate a legally permissible basis. To accomplish the goals of its affirmative action program, the university encourages employment applications from and makes special efforts to recruit protected classes.

Annual goals are established for each job category in which minorities and females are underutilized. Utilization is a comparison of UA's current representation to availability in the workforce based on census data. The purpose of these goals is to achieve parity in the workforce without discriminating against any employee or job applicant.

The University of Alaska actively promotes equal employment opportunities for protected groups while monitoring recruitment efforts and selection decisions. Statewide Human Resources works with the campuses to produce metrics and develop projects to focus on a diverse workforce across the university system.

\

The 2020 Affirmative Action Plans for Statewide Administration (SW), University of Alaska Anchorage (UAA), University of Alaska Fairbanks (UAF), and University of Alaska Southeast (UAS) have moved to utilizing forty job categories that subdivide the seven different occupational categories (EEO skill codes).

The seven occupational categories, with their associated job sub categories are:
